I am a hugely self-motivated professional translator, with more than 19 years of experience across different sectors of translation ranging advertising, market research, healthcare, pharmaceuticals, clinical research, public sector, law, immigration and education to transcription services for the media.

My linguistic proficiency meets its match in my in-depth knowledge of the Hindi and Bengali speaking diaspora and a single-minded focus on quality control.

Gaining strength from my knowledge of the languages themselves and the sensitivities and nuances of the communities where they are widely spoken and used, I can deliver translations which are always contextually accurate and of a very high quality.

I have an honest and open style communication ability and I never commit to a deadline I cannot keep to.
