

Resume: Translator/Editor
David S. George, Ph.D. in Spanish and Portuguese

A. Translator

Languages: English (native), Brazilian Portuguese/Latin American Spanish
Specializations: Communications, advertising and general business, education, socio-political and historical topics, art, film production. I have also published dozens of literary translations, including novels, short stories, and plays.

B. Intercultural Resource Consultant

Presentations sponsored by corporations on the history and culture of Latin American countries, as well as comparative presentations on social issues and customs (e.g., U.S./Brazil). The presentations are in English, Portuguese, and Spanish.

C. Author: I have published five books and over 60 articles, essays, and reviews on Latin American culture. My publications are in English, Portuguese, and Spanish.

D. Professor Emeritus: as a professor for nearly 40 years (Lake Forest College, Chicago Newberry Library, Universidade de São Paulo, Middlebury College), I taught courses on language, literature, culture and civilization, and cinema, in English, Portuguese, and Spanish.

E. Awards

I have received grants from the National Endowment from the Humanities, Fulbright Program, Social Science Research Council, and the University of Illinois/University of Chicago Joint Center for Latin American Studies.

G. Contact information:

Phone – home: 847-475-5645 Cell: 847-567-5643

Emails– davidsgeorge@comcast.net // george@lakeforest.edu