PERSONAL SUMMARY

I define myself a versatile; tenacious; responsible and positive person with high strength of spirit. I cooperate to create harmony and networking climate when I work in team. It is very important for me my personal growth and I really love learning new things. One of my strength points is my flexibility and open-minded character to face new situations and environments that which helped me to develop highly my resilience and problem solving skills.

In addition I modulate my natural communication talent to become an efficient communication expert.

Finally, if there is something I cannot live without is a sense of humour in large measure!
